VENEZUELAN ECONOMIC ENVIRONMENT

Venezuela's economic slowdown during the third quarter of the year was less marked than in the second quarter of the year. According to second quarter figures announced by the Central Bank (BCV), GDP fell by 9.4%, less than during the two immediately preceding quarters. Although there has been little change in the negative factors responsible for this development throughout the year — such as exchange control and the political and institutional crisis — other factors, such as oil prices which are still relatively high, and increased public spending, have helped lessen this economic slowdown.

Oil Sector

Oil production during the third quarter reached 2.58 million b/d, 67 thousand b/d less than for the second quarter, and 207 mil b/d less year on year with its consequent effect on oil industry results. Still, in terms of export values, the lower volume may have been partially offset by oil prices which averaged US$ 24.69/bl, over one Dollar above the average quoted for the previous quarter and slightly higher than the same period a year earlier. Higher oil prices along with greater Central Government borrowing have allowed for an increase in the level of fiscal expenditure

In the case of non-oil activities, the slower recessionary tendency seems to have remained. The second quarter showed a 10.4% downturn in non-oil GDP compared with 19.0% in the previous quarter. Some indicators for cumulative GDP to August, still compare unfavorably with the same period a year earlier. Automotive sales were down 59.3% versus 23.9% the previous year. Electricity consumption fell by 1.1% following a 4.4% growth in 2002. Although credit operations underwent a greater reduction in real terms, 11.1% to 27.3%, they recovered slightly in July and August compared to the second quarter. In the job market, although unemployment levels were still high, 17.8% and 2.1 million jobless in August, the rate is falling slightly. However, this is largely due to the increase in informal employment which accounts for 53% of the total employment.

Inflation

Consumer inflation in the third quarter was 4.6%, down one percentage point on the previous quarter and six percentages points on 2002. This behavior can be attributed to price controls and a drop in consumption. Accrued inflation for the first 9 months of 2003 is 20.6%.

Money Market, Foreign Exchange Market and Reserves

Liquidity continued to expand. However, lending rates remained at the same level of June 2003, while 90-day time deposit rates In the foreign exchange rose. market, foreign currency was more readily delivered to the private sector. In the third quarter the amount of foreign currency paid out accounts for 88% of operations so far this year. Even so, foreign exchange transactions were well below the 2002 figure, accounting for the increase in international reserves closed at US$ 18,432 million, a US$ 1.5 billion increase compared to the previous quarter. Another relevant aspect for the quarter was the Foreign Debt repurchase operation for US$ 1,5 billion financed on the domestic market and designed to change the structure of maturities and reduce amortizations scheduled up to 2008.

Exchange Control

In February 2003 the Central Bank and the Ministry of Finance signed Foreign Exchange Agreement N° 1, establishing the new foreign exchange regime to be implemented in Venezuela as a result of the foreign exchange policy agreed between the Government and the monetary authority in January 2003. Additionally, through Foreign Exchange Agreement N° 2 and pursuant to Article N° 6 of Exchange Agreement N° 1, the exchange rate was fixed at Bs 1,596/US$1 for purchases and Bs 1,600/US$1 for sales.

On February 5, 2003, the Foreign Exchange Administration Commission (CADIVI) was created to coordinate, manage and control the foreign exchange regime.

In July 2003 Foreign Exchange Agreement N°4 was signed. Its purpose is to regulate the purchase in Bolivars of securities issued in foreign currency by the Republic of Venezuela, negotiation of which had been suspended. Under this Agreement: a) the exchange rate applicable for the purchase of those securities in Bolivars on the primary market is the one established in foreign Exchange Agreement N°2, and b) the subsequent negotiation in Bolivars will only take place subject to regulation by the Central Bank. It also establishes the special rules applicable to financing programs developed by Banco de Comercio Exterior (BANCOEX).

U.S. ECONOMIC ENVIRONMENT

Economic growth

The U.S. economy grew at approximately 5 per cent per year during the third quarter. The economic recovery in the U.S. was stimulated by stronger consumer spending and an upswing in manufacturing activities.

Consumer prices

Over the past 12 months, the change in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) has been 1.2 per cent, the lowest since February 1966. The CPI in general rose slightly more than foreseen in September, driven by a 6.3 rise in gasoline prices, the highest increase since February.

Unemployment and productivity

The United States' trade deficit decreased for the fifth month since March, as a result of imports of automotive vehicles and spare parts dropping to their lowest level in 20 months. Trade figures have improved the forecasts for an expansion of the Gross Domestic Product (GDP).

Production increased by 0.4% in September, compared with 0.1% in August.

Interest rates

The FED which has lowered reference interest rates to their lowest in 45 years, reaching 1.0 per cent, has said that it is concerned that inflation may continue to fall. The Central Bank plans to keep interest rates low to stimulate economic expansion.

SUMMARY OF ACCOUNTING PRINCIPLES USED TO PREPARE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Consolidation

MERCANTIL's financial statements are presented in accordance with the standards issued by the Venezuelan Securities Commission (CNV), the Accounting Principles Generally Accepted in Venezuela are applied where the CNV's regulations are silent. Those standards require financial statements to be prepared on a consolidated basis. The main subsidiaries are listed below:

- · Banco Mercantil, C.A., universal bank in Venezuela and its branches abroad,
- Commercebank, N.A., bank in the United States of America,
- Seguros Mercantil, C.A., insurance company in Venezuela
- Banco Mercantil Venezolano, N.V., bank in Curação and its subsidiary Banco del Centro, S.A. in Panama.
- Banco Mercantil (Schweiz) AG, bank in Switzerland and its subsidiary BMC Bank & Trust Limited, in Grand Cayman,
- · Merinvest, C.A, brokerage in Venezuela.

Venezuelan Securities Commission (CNV) accounting standards

The CNV stipulated that MERCANTIL's financial statements must be presented in historic figures after the financial year ended on December 31, 1999. For that reason, as of January 2000, MERCANTIL did not continue to adjust for inflation its primary financial statements. Hence, fixed assets, among others, are expressed at the value adjusted for the effect of inflation up to December 31, 1999. The market value determined by independent valuations is higher than the cost adjusted for inflation. New additions are being recorded at their acquisition cost.

The increase in volume in financial assets and liabilities compared with September 2002, in operations in Venezuela and abroad had a positive effect on the behavior of the Gross Financial Margin, even though interest rates in Venezuela have fallen significantly compared with the third quarter of 2002. Interest rates for Dollar transactions remained at their lowest in decades.

Compared with September 2002, the volumes of financial assets and liabilities grew 43.8% and 47.1% in Venezuela and 11.6% and 9.0% abroad, respectively. Interest rates published by Venezuela's Central Bank corresponding to the average of the six largest banks are shown below:

LOAN PORTFOLIO PROVISION

During the third quarter of 2003 Bs. 36,095 million (US$ 23 million) in loan provision expense were recorded. This brings accumulated portfolio provision to Bs. 231,977 million (US$ 145 million) as of September 30, 2003. Write-offs for the guarter totaled Bs. 12,515 million.

This provision expense represents an increase of 117.6% on the third quarter of 2002, mainly due to the higher loan provision allocation in Venezuela.

Commissions and Other Income fell 1.1% (Bs. 887 million) in the third quarter of 2003, year on year. This variation, in addition to the devaluation effect on financial statements amounting to Bs.1,038 million that must be considered (see Appendix II), mainly includes:

- Reduction of Bs. 6,173 million in Income from Foreign Exchange Operations, due to the inability to conduct foreign exchange transactions as a result of suspended foreign currency trading in Venezuela as of January 2003 (See Venezuelan Economic Environment).
- Decrease of Bs. 23,909 million in net income from Foreign Exchange Rate Differences. During the third quarter of 2002, the long foreign currency position of subsidiaries in Venezuela generated exchange earnings of Bs. 23,539 million as a result of the Bolivar's devaluation versus the Dollar, which went from US$ 1,352/US$1 to Bs. 1,471/US$1 during that quarter. The exchange rate was controlled at Bs.1,596/US$1 during the third quarter of 2003.
- Increase of Bs. 10,562 million in securities trading due to increased local and foreign currency transaction opportunities in the Venezuelan market. Two major reasons improved market size;
   a) excess liquidity in Bolivars, due to reduced demand for foreign currency.
   b) Venezuela's credit risk ratings, and hence prices, improved. This situation boosted trading volume of investment portfolios, mainly fixed-income portfolios.
- Increase of Bs. 16,294 million in Other Income which includes higher collection of loans previously written off as uncollectible as well as the release of provisions recorded in previous periods and the sale of properties received in lieu of payment.

Insurance premiums, net of claims increased by 28.6% (Bs.1,567 million) in the third quarter of 2003 compared with the third quarter of 2002. The improved insurance activity is mainly due to the 39% growth in premiums along with a 29% increase in claims over the same period.

Operating Expenses increased 15.4% (Bs. 24,036 million) in the third quarter of 2003 year on year. When excluding the Bs. 2,744 million effect of devaluation (see Appendix II), the real variation results in a 13.6% increase in expenses. It is important to note that inflation in Venezuela over the last 12 months was 26.6%.

The Operating Expenses to Average Assets efficiency ratio went from 8.4 % in September 2002 to 6.5% in September 2003 and as can be seen in the attached figure, this ratio has been falling steadily over the last 5 years.

The figure also shows the behavior of the efficiency ratio and Operating Income (net financial margin plus commissions and other income) in respect to average assets. This ratio has become significantly lower due mainly to lower interest rates and the exchange control regime. However, higher control over spending has led to a rising trend in financial results, as can be seen from the behavior of the ROE and ROA indicators:

TAXES

A 61.2% (Bs. 11,068 million) reduction was recorded for the third quarter of 2003 compared with the same quarter the previous year, due to a decrease in net income of the subsidiary Commercebank (see Appendix IV) and tax payments on dividends for the third quarter of 2002, of Bs. 7,987 million.

BALANCE SHEET

The main Balance Sheet variations during the third quarter of 2003 are commented on below and analyzed by comparison with June 30, 2003. Other information is also shown and compared with September 30, 2002. The financial statements are in Appendix I of this report.

VARIATIONS IN DOMESTIC AND OVERSEAS OPERATIONS

BALANCE SHEET

To facilitate an understanding of the quarterly results, the following table shows the variations in operations in Venezuela, operations abroad and the effects of the Bolivar's devaluation against the US Dollar. This effect reflects the difference between the exchange rates used at each date: Bs. 1,596/US$1 in September 2003 (controlled rate) and Bs. 1,471/US$1 in September 2002, to convert the financial statements of the subsidiaries that report in currencies other than the Venezuelan Bolivar. The average exchange rate for the quarter is used to convert the income statements (Bs. 1,596/US$1 in September 2003 and Bs. 1,409/US$1 in September 2002)
